

Ohio's Townships: Spending, Taxing & Borrowing Less Brochure Order Form

Wendell Cox, principal of Demographia, an international public policy firm, recently completed an updated version of his original 2012 report (entitled Local Democracy in Ohio: A Review of City, Village and Township Financial Performance by Size). The updated report, commissioned by the Ohio Township Association and the Coalition of Large Ohio Urban Townships (CLOUT), is named Ohio's Townships: Spending, Taxing & Borrowing Less, and it further supports the data in the 2012 report. It concludes that townships spend less, tax less and incur less debt than other local governments in the same population categories.

The full report has been summarized in a helpful brochure (pictured at left) that is a valuable resource for township officials and staff in Ohio.
